High Velocity Product Development

Over 100 Team Transitions, Over 50 Enterprise Product Launches & Growing

Fast-Track Agile Adoption & Accelerate Product Development

Our signature 3-day bootcamps empower teams to adopt and to internalize Agile practices. Our hands-on approach helps software engineers, project manager, scrum managers, QA and executive leadership make the Agile transformation and get InRhythm with a series of practical learning exercises.

The “more action, less lecture” style makes the training personalized, engaging and interactive. Your team will walk away with a thorough understanding of the fundamentals of Agile, Lean, Kanban, and Lean-Start-up principles to apply immediately to jump-start their high velocity product development.

Client Success

One of the nation’s leading brands in print were challenged with outdated UX, workflows designed for print and the realignment of the platform around product lines.

After two 3-day bootcamps, InRhythm helped their people, process and technology operate at a high velocity. For the 1st time in company history, they release a mobile app in less than 90 days. They continue to deploy a major release every 90 days or less.

What Do Our Clients Say?

I'm highly recommending InRhythm training and methodology . Their Agile methodology and training has the right balance of informative and practical/execution content. The course is completely hands-on enable you to learn and practice as you go. InRhythm Team, well done!"
